L-W Five Beats Reavis But Loses To Eagles

BY GREGG FANT

The Lincoln-Way Knights came back after a heartbreaking loss to the Carl Sandburg Eagles on Friday night to defeat the Reavis Rams by a score of 66-62. The defeat dropped the Rams into the cellar of the Southwest Suburban Conference race with a 1-11 record. The win was the second conference win and the second over the Rams for the Knights while boosting their season mark to 3-18.

On Friday night, the Knights hosted the Eagles of Carl Sandburg and lost on a last second shot by Pat Heniff, a guard for the Eagles. The Knights had lead all the way except when the Eagles moved ahead briefly at 19-18 but were never ahead again until there were 2 seconds left in the game. The Knights called time out with two seconds left and after the rest period, a desperation shot by George Jorgenson hit the iron and bounced away. Both teams had almost exactly the same shooting percentage as the Eagles shot 48.3% while the Knights shot 48.1%. Game scoring honors went to Howard Grimes of the Knights who scored 12 baskets and 6 free throws for a total of 30 points. Jamie Roberts was high man for the Eagles with 28 points on 11 baskets and 6 free throws. The win gave the Eagles a 1-4 conference record.

On Saturday night, it was a different story as the Knights held on to beat the Rams after they had closed the gap to two points in the final seconds. Tom Hamilton then scored a lay-up from the left side to clinch the victory for the Knights. Scoring honors in the game went to Larry Gadomski of the Rams who was trailed closely by his team-mate Bob Bonarigo. They scored 18 and 17 points respectively. Leading scorer for the Knights was again Howard Grimes who netted 14 points on one field goal and 12 free throws. He was followed closely by George Jorgenson who had 13 points and Tom Hamilton who had 12. There were 41 personal fouls in the game and both teams cashed in for a total of 52 free throws. The Knights scored 30 of these in 42 attempts while the Rams scored the other 22 out of 25 attempts.

The sophomore Knights lost on both nights. They lost to Sandburg 52-32, and to the Rams, 59-49.

This week, the Knights host the Vikings of Homewood-Flossmoor who soundly crushed Evergreen Park on Saturday night by a score of 117-65 after losing their first game of the conference season the previous evening to Rich East by a final score of 71-62.

Game times are 6:30 for the sophomore contest with the varsity game slated to begin at 8 o'clock.

MRS. GEORGE HILL, GLEN ELLYN, ILL.

"I test-drove the Tempest, Corvair, the F-85, then Ford. I liked Ford best and bought it. The Cruise-O-Matic is wonderful. There's plenty of power, too. And we love the bucket seats. We've owned a couple of Chevys, but this year we decided Ford was best for our family!"

MR. FRED ODANAKA, CHICAGO, ILL.

"My son and I are both close to six feet tall. We both found that we couldn't sit comfortably in most of the cars we test-drove. The Ford gave us plenty of head room and leg room—front seat and back."

MR. ORVILLE A. KINNEY, HINSDALE, ILL.

"I used to drive Chevrolet. Then I discovered the extra weight, more solid construction and comfortable bucket seats in the new Ford. Important features for me! Because even though I have a bad back I must often take long car trips."

"BILL" BARR SPEAKS ON CAMPAIGN ISSUES!

Foreign Aid . . . The Big Giveaway

(These are actual quotes from speeches that Bill Barr is making thruout the 14th Congressional District. Bill Barr is the only candidate for nomination to Congress on the Republican ticket who is discussing specific issues. Each week in this space one of the election issues will be discussed.)

FOREIGN AID

"Let's take a serious look at the face of America as it appears to our neighbors overseas. It is obvious that under three years of a Democratic administration, our image in the eyes of the world has sadly deteriorated."

"Prior to this Democratic administration there was no Berlin Wall. There were no Soviet troops based in Cuba. There was no oil steal in Argentina. Sooner or later, the American people are going to realize that you can not buy Democracy with Dollars."

"President Johnson played politics with Christmas literally blackmailing Congress to pass his foreign aid appropriation. . . an appropriation that was later cited by Congress as an economy victory."

"Under these pressure tactics, the Democratic Congress, still preaching 'economy' appropriated $3 billion for foreign aid. Yet how many people realize that there was a $700 million surplus built up over the last fiscal year so that in reality the Johnson administration has $3.7 billion to pour down the rat hole of foreign aid."

"How many people realize that this appropriation included provisions to allow the Soviet Union to use credit in the infamous wheat deal?"

"Then, not more than two weeks after Congress ratified the wheat giveaway, the United Nations discussed nuclear free zones. South America was suggested as an area of the world to be kept free from nuclear testing and fallout contamination."

"The Russians agreed that this was a good idea, however, only on the condition that the United States remove her troops from Guantanamo Naval Base in Cuba. Why then did we not tell Mr. Khrushchev to remove HIS troops from Cuba before allowing the wheat deal?"

"It is the same old story of being out-manuevered at every turn by the Communists. The final outcome of the war against international Communism will be waged on the economic battlefield. For the first time, we had our adversaries in serious economic trouble. Then, we used American tax dollars to bail them out.

"Examples of our ineptness exist in nearly every section of the globe. In South East Asia there is a 'neutral' country called Cambodia. Cambodia said, 'Yankee, go home! And Yankee went home. . . but not before spending $336 million on them in foreign aid, again trying to buy Democracy with Dollars."

"And today, Cambodia is being used as a weapons exchange point between Red China and North Viet Nam. . . providing the weapons that are trained on American 'observers' every day."

"In November, 1963 Argentina confiscated American owned oil companies representing investments of $227 million. On December 1 we made our regular monthly foreign aid payment to Argentina. We have now lent them in excess of $478 million."

"What is the answer? We must carry a big stick. We must be prepared to win a limited as well as a world wide conflict. This is the only kind of logic that Communists recognize. We must keep the lines of diplomacy open thru the United Nations but we must always negotiate from a position of strength, not weakness."

"What would Theodore Roosevelt have done in the face of Fidel Castro's denying our troop water at Guantanamo Bay? Would he have said, 'Excuse me for being here, Mr. Castro. We will dig some wells of our own at a cost of $7 million to our taxpayers.'"

"I suggest that he would have sent a squad of Cuban based marines the two miles down the road to Castro's water company and turned the water back on."

"The one time we did not back down, in the case of the Cuban missile crisis, Mr. Khrushchev took his missiles and ran for cover."

"We need career diplomats in our state department. . . not political hacks. We need men who speak the languages and understand the customs of the countries in which they serve. Our double dealing, double standard diplomatic policies have created situations like Cuba, Panama, Laos, and Viet Nam. . . the list is endless."

"The time has come for the American people to stop trying to buy Democracy with Dollars. The time has come for us to stand firm on our convictions and wage a winning battle against the very real menace of international Communism."

(Next week, Bill Barr will discuss another vital issue confronting the voters of the 14th Congressional District.)

Orders Amplification Of Katschke Indictment

(CNS) U.S. District Judge Hubert L. Will Monday ordered the government to file bills of particulars in the indictment against Kenneth H. Katschke, 42, of 9200 South Francisco, and Paul E. Pickle, 41, of 148 Kedzie, Posen, in connection with affairs of the defunct Tinley Park Savings and Loan association.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert S. Atkins disclosed during the hearing in response to a demand for "all documents subpoenaed before the grand jury" by defense counsel, that the grand jury is still investigating other aspects of the case, which also involve the closed Chatham State Bank, of which Katschke was board chairman as well as being president of Tin-ley Park Savings and Loan. "This indictment is certainly not a masterpiece of clarity," said Judge Will. "This is the type of indictment for which a bill of particulars is an essential."

Trial of the case was set for March 27.

Katschke is charged with misapplying $1,024,711 of the savings and loan funds thru loans made to Central States Mortgage company, headed by Pickle, which in turn was to have made loans to ADK Enterprises, a construction firm, and on a marina at Chillicothe, Ill., owned by Pickle but already mortgaged for $75,000.

Pickle is charged with having aided and abetted him.

TINLEY PARK 532-4369
With the Cook County Soils & Soil Fertility School just finished, now is a good time to dwell a bit on procedures for arriving at good soil management practices.

Soil management problems related to the production of agronomic species can be divided into three major areas:

(1) DRAINAGE. Two questions arise in this area: (a) Is the land poorly drained, swampy, or subject to overflow or damage by water? If any of these conditions prevail, drainage must be corrected before other improvements can be effective. (b) Is the land droughty? If so, only moderate production can be expected unless cropping and fertility are improved. A management system should be introduced that will help to hold moisture or supply it by irrigation. Building up organic matter as rapidly as possible by returning crop residues and animal manures or even covering the surface with silt clay or muck soil will help to hold moisture.

(2) CONSERVATION. If the slope is such that the soil does not stay in place, then practices to increase fertility are not likely to be effective or long lasting. Holding soil in place is first an engineering job of planning terraces and diversion waterways, or strip cropping in accordance with needs. It is advisable to obtain the help of conservation engineers in such an undertaking.

(3) IMPROVEMENT. To get maximum productivity, the soil must have a high level of fertility. Building up and maintaining fertility comes under the heading of soil improvement. This practice becomes effective only after drainage and conservation problems have been solved. Improvements can be accomplished in many ways, but it will be well to plan your attack in advance by asking yourself these questions: (a) Where are you now? What do you have to start with? Make a complete inventory. (b) Where are you going? Set goals to reach. (c) When will the job be complete? That is, what are the known characteristics that may limit the effort?

The following suggestions should help you to arrive at better soil management practices:

1. Recognize and solve drainage and drought problems. Drainage improvement is an engineering job. If the problem is severe, the services of a drainage engineer should be obtained.

2. Recognize and solve conservation problems. Improved cropping and tillage practices can help to solve conservation problems by making the soil more porous. When water can be absorbed rapidly or slowed down by vegetation, there will be little damage of runoff.

3. Check cropping history. Cropping history will indicate production possibilities of soils, the extent to which their nitrogen needs are supplied through organic matter, and the annual need for supplemental nitrogen fertilization.

4. Determine previous fertility treatment. A fertility treatment record is essential for evaluating results of soil tests and effects of cropping and for making continued plans for fertilizer use.

5. Decide on desired land use and goals. The crops or cropping system and the production goals will determine to a large extent the kind and amount of fertilizer to apply and the time and method of applying it.

6. Consider soil type -- physical characteristics and limitations. Soil physical characteristics determine fertilization practices cropping systems, and potential productivity.

7. Get results of greenhouse and field experiments related to your situation. Results of similar greenhouse and field experiments will help to evaluate the efficiency and economics of various practices.

8. Have your soil tested for lime, phosphorus, and potassium. Soil tests measure the soil's need for plant nutrients in order to reach maximum production.

9. Get plant tissue tests to detect past deficiencies. Tissue tests point up the deficiencies of past practices and indicate improvements needed for future production.

10. Check plant symptoms -- let the plant tell you its troubles. Plant symptoms indicate nutrient deficiencies and show the need for improvement in soil management practices.

ner. With its approach there is a flurry of activity in the gardening industry as preparations get under way for another season.

Already tiny seedlings are starting to grow in bedding plant greenhouses throughout Chicagoland. Many of these are the first crop of exciting new varieties. From all indications this gardening year should be the best ever.

New ideas in production of bedding plants were presented to greenhouse operators at the recent conference for bedding plant growers. Also presented was the list of Recommended Bedding Plant Varieties for 1964 from the University of Illinois.

The extensive report by G.M. Fosler and D. C. Saupe of the University of Illinois' staff in floriculture and ornamental horticulture is based on observations made on the all-season performance of over 1,225 bedding plant varieties grown last season in the university's trial garden on the campus at Urbana. The '63 plantings included over 300 varieties of petunias alone, most of them F1 hybrids. Thousands of commercial growers, landscapers, seedsmen, home gardeners and others visit the UI trial garden each year. It has become a well recognized campus showplace.

A free copy of the list of Recommended Bedding Plant

Varieties can be obtained by sending your request on a postal card to G.M. Fosler, 100 Floriculture Bldg., University of Illinois, Urbana, Ill.

Last week landscape contractors attended a 2-day workshop sponsored by the University of Illinois and the Illinois Landscape Contractors Association during which instruction was presented to increase the skills of the contractors. This too was in preparation for the coming Spring season.

A sure sign of spring is the Chicago World's Flower show which will be held at McCormick Place March 7 - 15. From all pre-show indication this will be the best show yet.

Sandburg Winner In 1st Conference Swim Meet

BY JOHN HELQUIST

The Carl Sandburg swim team captured eight of eleven events in winning the first Southwest Suburban Conference swimming meet held at Bremen High School last Friday and Saturday (Feb. 15). All but two of the Eagle swimmers entered qualified Friday night for the finals Saturday.

At the end of the meet the score showed that Sandburg with 105 points was 22 points ahead of Homewood-Flossmoor, Reavis was third with 40 points, one more than Bremen with 39, and Oak Lawn finished last.

Double winners for Sandburg were Terry Brazel, Bob Hutchinson, John Helquist, and Bill McNaughton. Brazel placed first in the 200 and 400 yard free style, Hutchinson, Helquist and McNaughton were members of the winning 200 yard medley relay team, Hutchinson then won the 100 yard free. Helquist beat all competition in the 100 yard butterfly. McNaughton, the varsity captain, won the 100 yard backstroke.

The frosh-soph team placed second in their conference meet losing to Homewood-Flossmoor by one and one half points. In the daring losing effort Dwayne Polson and Bob Negro were first place winners. Polson captured the 150 and 300 yard free style and Negro won 50 yard breast stroke.

In preparation for the conference meet the frosh-soph and varsity shaved their arms and legs to decrease resistance.

On Saturday morning preceding the finals the team had a hair cutting party in which everyone's head was deprived of most of the hair leaving only stubble. Coach Robert Grindey explained that the cutting of the hair actually helps shave time, the effect is has is mostly psychological. The effect was that the varsity walked away with a meet that was supposed to be close and the frosh-soph who weren't even supposed to be in contention narrowly missed winning by one and one half points.

The results are as follows: 200 Yard Medley - 1, Sandburg (B. McNaughton, Erickson, Helquist, Hutchinson); 2, Bremen 4; Reavis; 5, Oak Lawn. Time 1:50.7.

Frankfort Village Board Meets Planners Tonight

More talk on the proposed building of multiple housing in Frankfort occupied most of the attention of the Frankfort village board at its meeting Monday night. No action was taken, however, as the board plans further study of the matter and to that end will meet tonight with professional planners to discuss the situation.

Tonight's meeting will be held in the village hall and members of the zoning board and plan commission have been invited to participate in the discussion.

At a recent meeting of the village board it was agreed that the original master plan drawn for the Frankfort - Mokena area should be brought up to date, at least as far as the village of Frankfort is concerned. Originally the cost for the joint master plan was divided between the two villages. They endeavored to interest New Lenox in the project at the time so the plan would embrace the entire area but New Lenox declined.

At a recent meeting in Lincoln-Way high school Dr. Harold Maier, noted geographer and planner, said it was important that communities have a plan for growth and if they have a plan it should be kept up to date. Frankfort officials want to keep their plan current.

Members of the village board agree that multiple dwellings will be built in Frankfort but what concerns them is their location and what restrictions, if any, should be imposed to limit their number.

The board hopes to get some of the answer at tonight's meeting altho it was believed that considerable time for study would be required before final action could be taken.

A.T. McIntosh Co., which is developing Connecticut Hills subdivision north of U.S. 30 is asking for approval of multiple family dwellings along U.S. 30 at the west end of the subdivision. The zoning board of appeals has passed favorably upon such classification but the village board has not voiced its decision.

At the time the recommendation was made by the zoning board that apartments be built in the area requested all the house owners in Connecticut Hills -- 16 of them -- appeared before the village board to protest.

Beaten Robbed

A Mokena resident, John Wilfinger, who lives on 186th st. near Wolf rd., was beaten and robbed near his home last Saturday night by a man he met in local bars. According to Mokena's police chief, Roy Newton, Wilfinger reported that his attacker robbed him of $150.

The victim was quoted as saying that in the course of a conversation with this stranger in a local bar the man, described as being in his late 20's, said he was broke and needed some money. Wilfinger gave the man $5, the report states, and later the stranger offered to drive him home.

Near the Wilfinger home the man allegedly demanded more money and when he was refused attacked the Mokenan, using a bottle as a club. Wilfinger was severely beaten.

Later he was taken to the Oak Forest police station by Chief Newton to view a suspect that was being held there on a traffic charge. He was quoted by Chief Newton Tuesday as stating he would not prosecute.

The Working Classes

J. A. Ward

If you are over Forty - Employed or looking for employment Here's a FAMILIAR PHRASE THAT YOU ARE GOING TO BE HEARING MORE AND MORE, "ARE YOU AN OLD OR YOUNG OVER-FORTY?"

There is a tremendous difference between these two classifications, with respect to you holding or securing a job on today's Labor Market.

What is a young over-forty? Male or Female - In either case it is someone who is spending the needed time on improving their physical and outward appearance -- They are people who are aware of the importance of looking sharp by controlling their weight. Making sure their clothes are NEAT, CLEAN and fit properly, who spend more time on personal hygiene and good grooming.

Actually the young, OVER-FORTY spends more time and money on themselves because competition necessitates that he or she do this in our current, NEW FRONTIER ERA -- An era emphasizing youth and education.

To keep in tune with the times means putting forth extra effort in every phase of your personal appearance. Losing a few pounds of weight can take off as much as 15 years in your personal appearance.

Choosing the right clothes, the right hair do, likewise will play an important part toward this young OVER-FORTY appearance.

Improving your physical and outward appearance will not only bring you this young over forty look, it will quite likely bring you a happier out-look on life.

Frankfort School Needs More Space And Revenue

Rising enrollment without a corresponding rise in revenue is the situation now confronting the Frankfort grade school board.

Those familiar with school affairs say that many boards are confronted with the same situation but that does not ease the problem for Frankfort, a board spokesman pointed out. Reduced to simple terms Frankfort's current grade school population is 390, classroom space is at a premium and the budget is limited. Only one grade has less than 40 pupils. It is necessary to form more classes out of the grades, it was explained.

Indications are that by next September four additional teachers will be needed and the board will have to rent classroom space for kindergarten and one of the grades. How to finance the increase in the staff and pay rent on the outside quarters has become a serious question.

If the money is not available the board may have to discontinue the kindergarten program temporarily, it was said. At the last meeting of the board 14 parents urged that kindergarten be retained. A representative of the board was to get some firm figures relative to room rental for presentation to the members at their next session.

Compensation is to be allowed teachers engaged in extra

The board has adopted a manual on school policy designed for the guidance of future boards, school staff and other employees.

Silver Cross Hospital Offers Refresher Course

A fourth refresher course given at Silver Cross hospital for graduate nurses will be this spring with April 13 set January Base Milk Price Continues At $3.61 Level

Again reinforced by a superpool addition of 10 cents per cwt., the January base milk price paid producers delivering to the Chicago market continued at the December level of $3.61 per cwt., Harry L. Edwards, director of marketing for Pure Milk Association, reported today.

With increases in production, the 10-cent superpool addition figured importantly in holding the base price at $3.61, Edwards pointed out. The January superpool, he said, provided $426,000 to help offset rising costs of producing top quality milk.

The minimum uniform or blended price paid producers for excess milk in January will be $3.51 per cwt., Edwards reported.

These prices are for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat test delivered to plants within the 55- to 70-mile zone. The differential for each one-tenth of one percent of butterfat above or below 3.5 percent is 7 cents per cwt.

In addition to the $3.61 base price, producers who delivered milk to plants which utilize at least 40 percent of their base milk for fluid milk and cream sales for the Chicago market will receive a 10-cent super-pool premium over the announced 10-cent superpool payment. Also, an additional 5-cent superpool premium on base milk is paid to producers whose farms are located within 70 miles of Chicago.

The superpool additions are a result of handler payment of a superpool premium of 47 cents per cwt. above the Federal order price of Class I (bottled) milk and a 20 cents per cwt. premium on the fluid portion of Class II milk.

Producers for the Chicago market were paid $4.29 per cwt. in January for the 38.3 percent of their milk utilized as Class I. January 1964 production of milk increased more than 12 million pounds while Class I sales decreased nearly two million pounds compared with January 1963, Edwards pointed out. The decrease in Class I sales is attributed to a falloff in demand from outside markets.

January deliveries under Chicago Order 30 totaled 535,634,133 pounds. This was nearly one percent below the same month in 1963.

Approximately 49.1 percent of total producer milk under Order 30 in January 1964 was used for Class I and Class II purposes.

as a tentative date for the opening session. Presented by the inservice education department and the alumnae association, the course will cover 70 hours of classroom instruction integrated with clinical experience under supervision and given in a 13 week period. Inservice programs keep the nurse working in a hospital up to date on equipment, medicines and procedures but there have been such rapid changes in everything concerning the care of the sick in the last few years, that the inactive nurse feels the need of a refresher course before returning to active duty. To give her a feeling of security is the prime objective of the course.

Since these courses were inaugurated at Silver Cross, 40 graduates representing a dozen or more schools of nursing have completed the required work.

Classes are held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Enrollment will be limited to a number that can be well supervised. A tuition fee covering cost of materials will be charged. Application can be made at any time and anyone interested in further details may contact Mrs. Naomi Corin, director of inservice education, on week days from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., telephone 727-1711, ext. 765.

Business & Finance

BY MAURICE P. ANGLAND

As was predicted some months ago by Fortune's column on economic developments, Business Roundup, steel demand has been showing a considerable increase. Mills are reported to be working at about 66 per cent of capacity and are taking orders on the basis of likelihood of 75 per cent capacity operation shortly. An indication of the relative position of steel demand, is had in structural steel where mills are now posting prices for the first time since 1961. Large orders were almost always subject to considerable price negotiation. Other metals are also showing considerable increases in business and aluminum is now working at close to capacity. As to the securities markets, some analysts feel that investors are watching to get an idea of the likely effect of the tax cut and also the situation as to numerous trouble spots in the world.

The Financial World states, "The supposition that much of the stimulative effect (of a tax cut) has already been exhausted in anticipation, has diminished almost to the vanishing point. Although there is little unanimity as to how powerful an energizer the new tax law will be, emphasis at present seems to be on the inflationary potential it contains. Various information media have been warning of this possibility for some time."

The comment is made that the president and legislators will want to secure wage and price legislation - "at least on a standby basis". The comment notes that market prices rose to 23 times average earnings in 1961, but that although stock prices have risen considerably since then, due to increased profits, the price-earnings ratio is now only about 19 times - or less - during the past seven months.

The Financial World and other financial media, have recently been expressing concern over the efforts being made to remove the Federal Reserve from the status of an independent agency, to a position where it will become another agency dependent on policies of the legislators and the Treasury.

We do not claim to be experts in financial policies of the world, but reference to comparatively modern financial history of France, indicates what can happen when financial policies and monetary controls are subject to temporary political advantages. The actual dictatorship of DeGaulle was brought about thru the fiscal chaos and continuing inflationary policies.

Control of monetary policies was given to the Bank of France, the central bank, and control of this institution was held by a strong body of men for a time and then came into a situation where varying political fortunes were in control. The small banks of France became tools of a central banking power and this allowed making any money policy desired, work for a time. Great political power went with control of the banking structure.

We have had many powerful legislative men who did not agree with the cautious policies of the Federal Reserve Board. Representative Wright Patman of Texas, who is head of a subcommittee of the House Banking Committee, has often expressed a desire for cheap and plentiful money. Monetary policies and knowledge of the science of monetary policies, is one of the most difficult of economic studies, but many untrained men fear not to declare themselves expert in the field. This is always a little difficult to understand in view of the results of amateur handling of financial policies in other parts of the world and our own early history of about the 1850's when we experienced a very severe depression due to mishandling of financial and monetary policies by amateurs.

a Joliet Federal home loan may help put your children through college!

And there are no
"hidden costs" in a Joliet Federal home loan...

Does that sound like a strange statement? How can a home loan put someone through college? One of the features of a Joliet Federal home loan is that in future years your home may be re-financed and the funds used for your children's education. This feature may also be used for modernization of your home, additions to your property or for various other purposes. These funds may be secured at little or no expense when the loan has been appropriately reduced.

NO HIDDEN COSTS... These are just some of the things you should know before you buy a home or arrange financing. You'll like the way a Joliet Federal home loan officer will explain every detail, including complete closing costs.
Call us or visit us soon and let us tell you of the many advantages and benefits of a Joliet Federal home loan. You'll like the friendly folks at Joliet Federal.
